AKO user IDs that do not conform to this requirement are subject to deactivation.

If you fall into this list, you would select this option to register. The registration process is pretty straight-forward and self-explanatory, so I won't go through those steps in this lesson. However, you will need to know the AKO user name of the person who will sponsor you to complete the process.

Matt:
How do I set up a discussion on acquisition or transferring government owned equipment, mainly within the USACE. Currently working on an EPA job and would like to try to acquire equipment. My overall intent is to network between all agencies to benefit the government in utilizing gov owned equipment

RE: Welcome to the AKO Discussions Community
Mark, the best way is probably to post about equipment you're looking for to the USACE discussion and hopefully others will read it and respond if they can help. Right now traffic is obviously low so it might take time for people to notice, but what you talked about is a great use of AKO Discussions.

RE: Welcome to the AKO Discussions Community
Matt,
I am the admin for the PM SEQ (Soldier Equipment) Community page - currently the top discussion thread community thanks to some advertising on the AKO homepage and Soldiers' high interest in giving feedback on the equipment we provide them. I have a suggestion/question: I have noticed soldiers starting their own discussion threads in our community - which is that sometimes the threads get to talking about something different than the name of the thread. I was
I could change the name of the thread to make it more representative of the actual postings. For example, thread called "Kevelar (sic)" which ended up being a discussion on the Advanced Combat Helmet - instead of just Welcome! This is to bring together links to the various community discussions along with a place to get help and give feedback about the discussion interface itself.

We'd like to use this particular discussion as a place where users can ask any questions they might have about the interface as well as tell us what they think. What's good, what's confusing, what needs improvement...we want to hear it.

About AKO
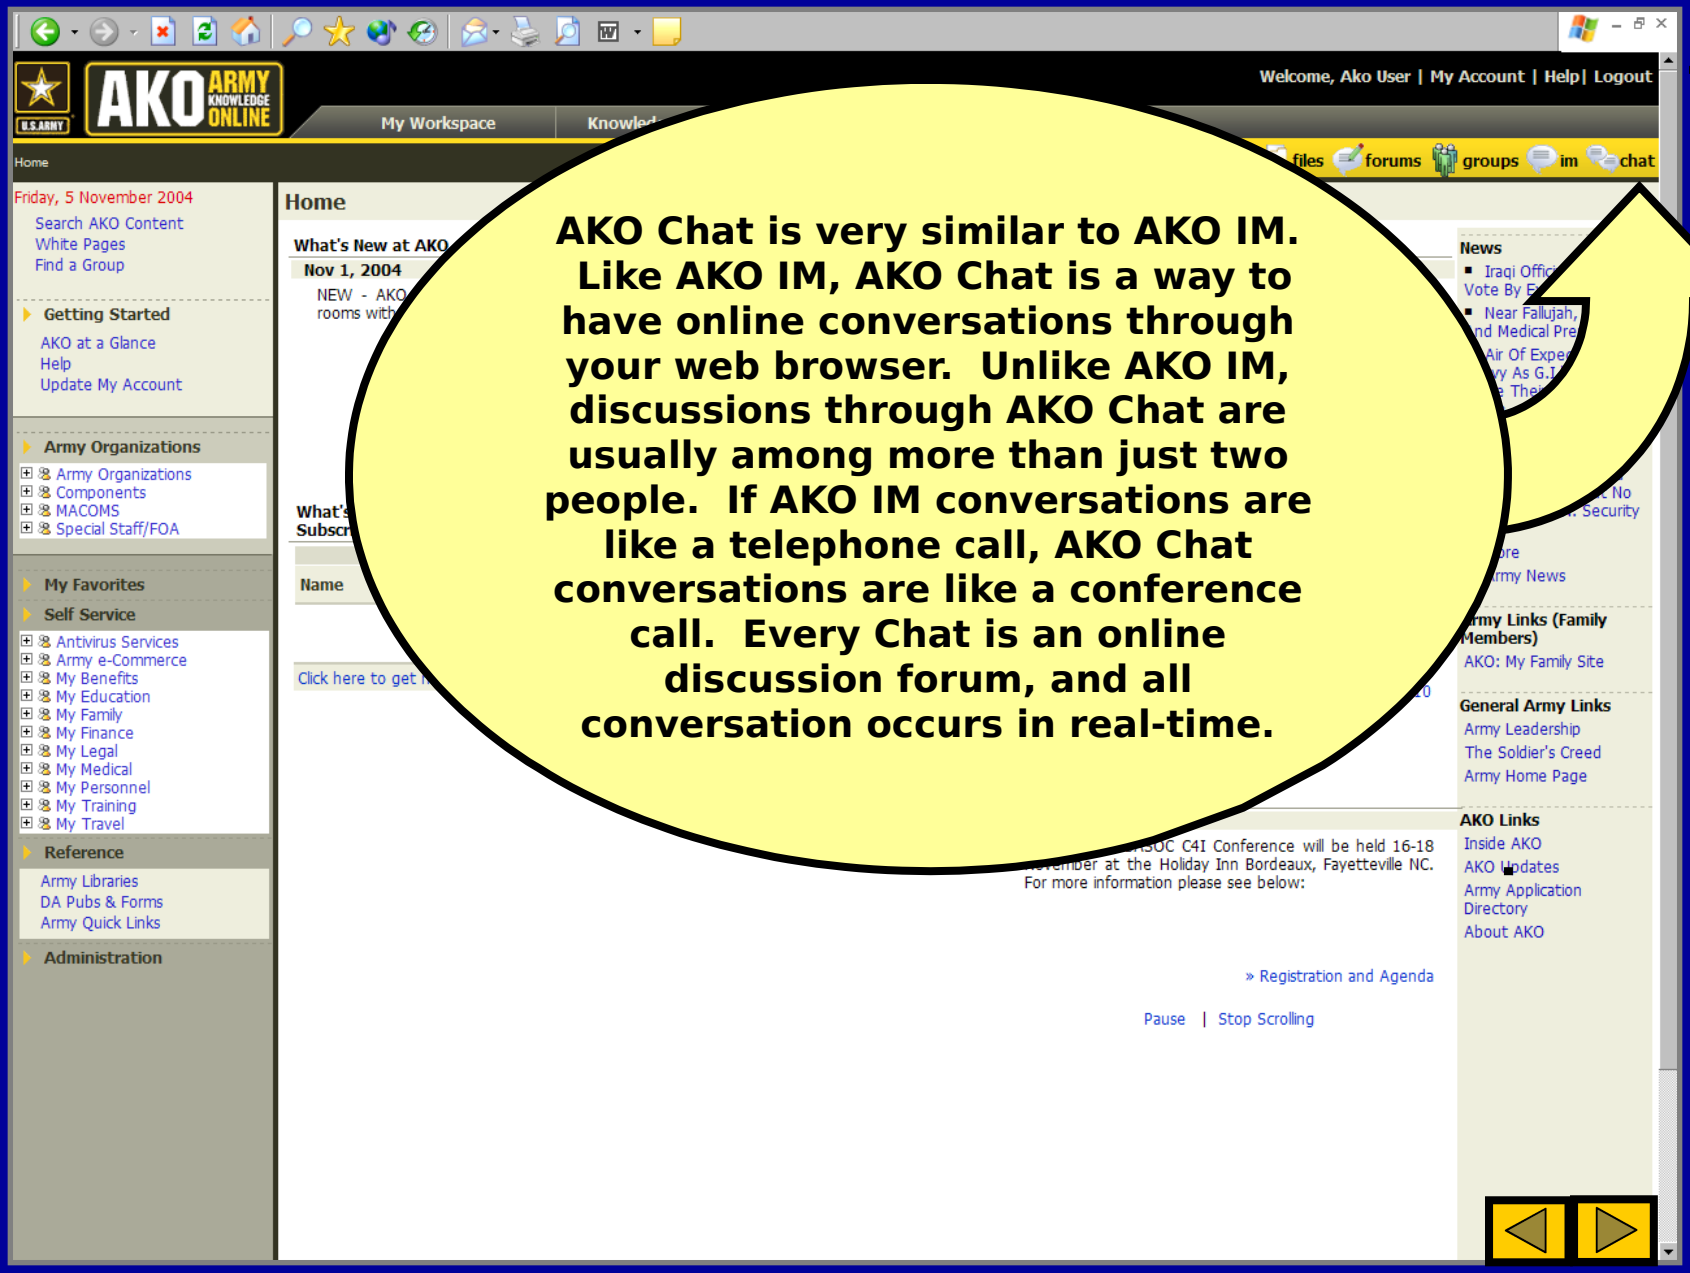
The AKO Instant Messenger application allows you to have real-time conversations through your computer, usually between just two people. Unlike email, messages are delivered almost instantly, and are usually not saved. IM is kind of like a typical telephone conversation; you chat in the same way through typing on your computer rather than talking into the telephone receiver.



AKO Chat is very similar to AKO IM. Like AKO IM, AKO Chat is a way to have online conversations through your web browser. Unlike AKO IM, discussions through AKO Chat are usually among more than just two people. If AKO IM conversations are like a telephone call, AKO Chat conversations are like a conference call. Every Chat is an online discussion forum, and all conversation occurs in real-time.

My Travel Announcements
Oct 1, 2004
The Army DTS Memo, Defense Travel System (DTS) Proliferation went into effect on 24 Sep 2004. The letter states that each Army installation should fully proliferate DTS to installation travelers within 90-180 days after DTS initial operating capability (IOC). All sites that are within the post IOC window must process routine business travel, local travel, group travel and leave with official travel using the Defense Travel System. DTS usage will be an FY05 Joint Reconciliation Program metric.
